SUJET N°2 : THE SHERLOCK HOLMES MUSEUM

Mise en situation :

Vous travaillez dans un des multiples offices de tourisme londoniens, au City of London Information Centre situé St. Paul's Churchyard à Londres. Vous êtes chargé(e) de l'accueil physique et de l'accueil téléphonique des usagers.

Vous recevez aujourd'hui des visiteurs qui souhaitent découvrir des musées typiques londoniens. Vous leur suggérez de visiter le Musée Sherlock Holmes et leur donnez des informations sur ce lieu.

Pour vous aider, vous disposez des documents donnés en annexe et du dépliant sur le musée.

YOUR TASKS :

You have to answer the different questions the people ask you and give them information:

- Explain where the Museum is located.
- Ask them if they know Sherlock Holmes. If they don't, explain them who he was in a few words.
- Give them the opening hours. Tell them about the souvenir shop, the website...
- And you can also suggest other places worth visiting and not too far from The Sherlock Holmes Museum, such as Regent's Park or Madame Tussaud's.

Pour info : Une boutique dédiée au très célèbre groupe Anglais The Beatles est située juste à côté du Sherlock Holmes Museum.

“I have it here in my museum” said Sherlock Holmes in the adventure of the Blue Carbuncle.

The opening of the Sherlock Holmes Museum to the public on 27 March 1990 was an event which should have happened several decades ago. 221 b Baker Street is, after all, the world's most famous address because of its long association with the great detective.

Thousands of people all over the world write to Sherlock Holmes, they form clubs and societies in his honour, and they celebrate his anniversaries. Now it is also possible to see where and how he lived in Victorian times! The famous study which Holmes and his friend Dr Watson shared for almost 25 years is on the first floor overlooking Baker Street, but before entering the house, ask yourself which of these categories of visitors you would place yourself in:

a) You 've heard about Sherlock Holmes and you've seen one or two films about his exploits - probably the Hound of the Baskervilles - yet you know very little about the great detective himself. You are probably visiting out of curiosity.

b) You know a great deal about Sherlock Holmes! You 've read most of the stories, you've seen all his films on TV and you are an admirer of the famous detective. You'd like to visit his rooms to see if they are quite as you imagined.

c) You are an expert - an absolute authority on Sherlockiana! You can discuss and debate with the best of them, having read and re-read all sixty of the original stories written by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and those written by others- you may have even written one yourself!

Whatever category you belong to, you are sure to find a visit to the museum a memorable experience. You may take photographs wherever you wish (the maid will be pleased to assist) you are ready to leave, you may find yourself wishing that you could hail a horse- drawn hansom cab to take you home!

Guidance notes.

Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson lived at 221 b Baker Street from about 1881-1904. Apartment 221b was on the first floor of a lodging house, the landlady of which was a Mrs. Hudson. There were 17 steps from the ground floor hallway to the first floor study which Holmes and Watson shared. Holmes' bedroom was at the rear, adjoining the study.

Visitors will recognise scores of familiar objects and paraphernalia mentioned in the stories.

Doctor Watson's bedroom was on the second floor next to Mrs. Hudson's room and it overlooked an open yard at the rear of the house. These rooms are used today as exhibit rooms, where centre stage is taken by a magnificent bronze bust of Mr Holmes.

The Museum's large and attractive souvenir shop is located on the ground floor.

The house was built in 1815 and is listed Grade 2 of special architectural and historical interest by Her Majesty's Government.
